

Traffic Toll Is Mounting Daily; Insurance Affords Only Protection

"College Youth Killed in Highway Accident." "Man Killed by Passenger Train." These are headlines out of a series of alarming daily warnings that tell you that you cannot avoid accidents.

Chances are you ride trains, and if not, you certainly ride in automobiles. Then, too, you're a pedestrian, and speeding cars are a constant menace to everyone who walks the streets. In town, or city or country, the ever-mounting accident wave is a peril that hangs over every head. Protect your income against abrupt halt in case you are injured; safeguard the future of your family in case you are slain.

The insurance offered through The Atlanta Constitution is issued by the North American Accident Insurance Company of Chicago, Ill., which company has already paid Atlanta Constitution subscribers over $200,000.

The insurance is offered to subscribers of the daily and Sunday Constitution and immediate dependent members of the subscriber's family between the ages of 15 and 60 on the one subscription going into the home at a small registration fee of 20c with application and 10c per month thereafter in addition to the subscription price, or $1.00 each per policy per year in advance to subscribers who live in Atlanta and Atlanta suburbs where we have carrier delivery. Out-of-town subscribers can have this insurance by paying $1.00 per policy per year in advance. This insurance offered through The Atlanta Constitution provides for the payment of sums ranging downward from $10,000 for travel, $1,000 for auto and pedestrian deaths resulting from certain specified accidents, heavy sums for permanent injuries, and $10 weekly indemnity for total disability resulting from accidents set forth in the policy, which is at the rate of $43.33 per month.

In sending application for insurance, the applicant must state name in full, give age and occupation, and if beneficiary is desired the full Christian name of beneficiary must be given and relationship of same to the insured.

COURTESY IS ASKED FOR VISITING SPEAKERS

Citizens of the state yesterday were asked by Governor Talmadge to extend a "respectful and orderly hearing" to any speaker who comes into Georgia and "conducts himself as a gentleman."

The request was made in a public statement believed to have been prompted by numerous requests received concerning Dr. Gerald Smith, organizer of Huey Long's Share Our Wealth clubs, who is making a tour of the state. Some of the requests to the governor have been to ban Smith meetings and others have asked protection for the organizer.

LETTER LAUDS JURY FOR LOTTERY ATTACK

The March-April grand jury is highly commended for its attack on the lottery racket in a letter from a well-known Atlanta mailman received yesterday by E. W. Torrance, who was foreman of the jury, and turned over to Solicitor-General John A. Boykin.

NELSON EXTENDED LEGION INVITATION

Church Institute Secretary Is Asked To Answer Communistic Charges.

Formal invitation to Claude Nelson, secretary of the Southern Institute of International Relations, to be held in Atlanta June 10 to 19, to appear before Atlanta Post No. 1, American Legion, to answer charges that affiliates of the institute are communistic in spirit, was issued yesterday by Kenneth R. Murrell, post commander.

At the same time, East Point Post No. 51, of the Legion, adopted a resolution endorsing the stand taken by the Atlanta post in opposing the institute, and especially condemning the appearance on the institute program of Rexford C. Tugwell, under-secretary of agriculture, Tugwell however, has cancelled his Atlanta engagement, due to the press of business in Washington, where he has been placed in charge of President Roosevelt's rural rehabilitation program.

Explanation Asked. In inviting Nelson to appear before the Legion at 12:30 o'clock Friday at the Henry Grady hotel, Commander Murrell specifically asked the institute secretary to explain whether he thought Ray Newton, of the American Friends Service Committee and War Register's league, an affiliate of the institute, was building "good citizenship" in our country when he circulated the "slacker's oath," pledging citizens of this country to refuse to bear arms for his country in any war, defensive or offensive, and to refuse to support any war loans or use their labor to release others for military service.

The legion commander also asked Nelson to explain whether the institute endorses the statement of Bishop Francis J. McConnell, of the National Religious and Labor Foundation, another institute affiliate when he said that "college student's agitation in behalf of atheism, the espousal of anarchy by the adolescent and assaults on the part of the young against the ministry and society really are healthful signs of a stirring within the individual of the 'Christ Spirit.'"

East Point Resolution. East Point post, in its resolution said: "We are of the opinion that the people associated with the American Friends Service Committee who circulated the 'slacker's oath' pledging citizens of this country to refuse to support their government in any war, offensive or defensive, will bring no wholesome thought to any Christian community."

The resolution also condemned Tugwell for his espousal of Soviet Russia as an example for the best government on earth.

COX EXCORIATES
GOV. TALMADGE
FOR F. D. R. ATTACK

hope that I may set right the people of the state in the eyes of the nation."

Governor Talmadge did not speak for the people of Georgia, he declared. "In his bitter attack upon President Roosevelt and the national administration, he spoke for himself alone and for motives which will subsequently become apparent. The speech the governor made was little more than a fault-finding tirade and would be of no importance except for the fact it is an attack upon a democratic president by a democratic governor of a rock-ribbed democratic state in which the president makes his part-time home."

Disclaiming any thought of denying the governor the right of criticism, he said independence of thought and willingness to make public declarations of views are to be commended wherever found—but, he added, "there is a broad distinction between legitimate criticism and what the governor has done—as broad as the difference between lawful procedure and anarchy."

AAA Denunciation.
Representative Cox was particularly strong in his denunciation of the governor for criticizing the AAA's crop reduction program and reminded the state executive that while Georgia commissioner of agriculture he had joined with Senator Huey P. Long, then governor of Louisiana, in inaugurating the first movement for a cotton holiday in the south.

"It seems paradoxical to disclose at this late date," he said, "that Senator Long, as governor of Louisiana, had his legislature pass a law prohibiting cotton growers of that fertile and production state from planting a stalk of cotton in 1931, and after the Louisiana legislature had passed this dictatorial act, Senator Long, who was then governor of Louisiana, called upon all the southern states to join in the movement, and his representative in Georgia was Governor Talmadge, then commissioner of agriculture."

"Governor Talmadge called a mass meeting of farmers in Atlanta at that time and made every effort to force Governor Russell, who is now senator from Georgia, to call an extraordinary session of the state legislature and fall in line with Louisiana by passing a law to prohibit the farmers of Georgia from planting a stalk of cotton during an entire year."

"We now find these two distinguished gentlemen, Senator Long and Governor Talmadge, as the leading critics of the agricultural adjustment program, condemning administration benefits to the farmer as fallacious program of scarcity and attempting to tell the farmers that the abolishment of the present program would result in better prices for their products."

Farmers in Capital.

Cox, in retorting to Talmadge's scathing denunciation of AAA, said, "It will interest you to know that there is today in Washington a delegation of more than 1,000 farmers from the state of Georgia who have come here to protest the speech of Governor Talmadge, to express confidence in the president and approval of the administration's farm program."

The Georgian said in the two years since the farm program was launched the prices of the seven farm commodities originally named as basic in the adjustment act—cotton, tobacco, hogs, corn, wheat, rice and milk—had more than doubled.

"In 1932, $102,000,000 in rental and benefits were paid to farmers co-operating in the adjustment program, and in 1934, $556,000,000 were paid in rental and benefit payments and through livestock purchases, bringing the total cash income from $4,328,000,000 in 1932 to $5,051,000,000 in 1933, and to $6,080,000,000 in 1934."

Now what about Georgia?

Farm Income Gains.
"In 1932, receipts from farm marketing yielded Georgia farmers $534,511,000, but by 1934 receipts rose to $855,886,000 and with $14,215,000 of rental and benefit payments the total returns were $1,101,001,000. In other words, Georgia's farm cash income for 1934 represented a gain of 50 per cent over their farm cash income of 1932. In addition to this, up to February 1, 1935, Georgia cotton growers had received $5,040,201 on cotton options held by them as a result of the 1933 cotton program, and up to the same date Georgia farmers had taken advantage of the cotton loan to borrow $42,255,149 on 701,072 bales of cotton. What has happened in Georgia is typical of every other agricultural state."

"The increase in this well-being of the farmer that followed the improvement in farm income just mentioned meant not only that the farmer has been able to buy more of the things he needs than he has for a number of years, but the city workers have in turn profited by the revival of markets due to his purchases."

"These are some of the benefits that have flown to the farmer and the country as a direct result of the agricultural program, but still Governor Talmadge says it is all wrong and should not be continued. It is a program of scarcity, that it stagnates business and is hurtful to the farmer. I am unable to see how the farmer is hurt by doubling his income on the same investment and effort. I am sure that Governor Talmadge has no conscious intention of hurting the farmer. He has simply gotten in water over his head and rather than call for help he is willing to drown."

Governor's Radio Drive.
"The governor has threatened to campaign the country against the processing tax, but even if he should give up this proposed trip and decide to stay at home he cannot get by with telling the farmers that 'the processing tax has stagnated the cotton industry in America and is causing the importation of cotton here every day.' The figures on cotton imports for the seven months ending February 1, 1935, are as follows:

"Cotton unmanufactured, imports for consumption, by countries of production, for seven months ending February:

Country of Production	1934	In Pounds	1935
Mexico	680,492	506,549
British West Indies	13,197	4,486
Argentina	2,737	21,222
Peru	1,518,864	1,518,864
British India	5,378,476	6,925,058
China	6,118,838	1,297,123
Netherlands India	296,728	137,360
British West Africa	31,574	22,850,204
Egypt	28,880,230	22,850,204
Total	40,112,274	32,239,968

Imports From Orient.

"Neither can the governor get by with bewailing that the thousands of cotton goods and fabrics that were once made in America and shipped to China and Japan are now made in China and Japan and shipped back here to the United States on account of this foolish processing tax, when the cotton farmers know well enough that imported raw cotton pays the same processing tax as domestic cotton when it is made up in an American mill, and when they know equally well that imported cotton textiles pay a compensating tax equal to our domestic processing tax, in addition to the regular tariff. In addition to this, nothing would be more foolish than shutting out imports of cotton goods from Japan, which is but a fraction of one per cent of domestic production, when Japan is the world's best customer for American cotton."

"The governor objects to all activities of the government that competes with private enterprise. This puts him in opposition to the development of Muscle Shoals and makes him unwittingly a special pleader for the power trust and fertilizer combine which for many years succeeded in the killing off of all legislation making use of this government property. It puts him in opposition to the services that this development is intended to render—cheap fertilizer, rural electrification and cheap power. Take the government out of business, the governor demands! Let me ask him what would have become of the distressed farm owners and home owners if the government had not come to their rescue?"

Salvation of Nation.

"He, of course, knows that the insurance companies, building and loan associations and other lending agencies would own them all by now."

"If the government is in business it is because business had failed, and the country had to be saved. It was business that first obtained security through governmental aid. Big business that two years ago came to Washington with hat in hand now haughtily demands that the recovery program under which it was saved cease and Governor Talmadge joins in asking that this be done."

"In his frenzied attack upon the president, Governor Talmadge has thrown himself into the very arms of big business, for it is from this source that comes greatest objection to the effort being made to give some kind of relief and security to people who toil. I am opposed to the recrimination of business and of life. I believe in government by law and not by men, but a state of war demands war measures, and until we come out of the slump into which the country has fallen we will have to put up with things with which we are unaccustomed. There is no intention anywhere to filch from the people their liberties, but on the other hand the determination to make them secure in the enjoyment of all their natural and legal rights."

"Governor Talmadge blames the administration for the continued unemployment of thousands of unfortunate people and in the same breath he damns the president for relief activities which are designed to give these unfortunate a temporary means of living until they can be absorbed by industry. He complains of millions of dollars being spent for relief, but he fails to mention the widespread suffering that would result but for this humanitarian policy. He manifests greater concern in the profits of business than in the lives of the people. What would he do for the poor? There is no work to be had and they cannot live on grass."

Conditions Not Mentioned.
"In denouncing the administration farm program as an effort to build prosperity through scarcity, he fails to refer to the miserable economic conditions existing in American agriculture when large surpluses in cotton, wheat and other commodities depressed prices to the point where farmers were unable to recover the cost of their operations."

"In making a false claim that curtailment of acreage put millions of people off the farms, he said nothing of the tremendous increase in farm acreage curtailment."

"Perhaps his major recommendation for restoring normal conditions is the laughable suggestion that the Agricultural Adjustment Act be abolished and all outstanding contracts to the farmers be paid off and agriculture be forced to return to the old unorganized status it occupied during the early days of the depression."

"If this were done, a rule of ruin would follow. Expansion of acreage would be the first step, overproduction would ensue, the government's policy of making commodity loans would be abandoned, market prices would collapse and in less than a year American agriculture would find itself back in the depths of despair from which it is just now emerging."

Own Record Cited.
"As a member of congress," Representative Cox said at the outset of his address, "I have indulged in criticism myself, but have undertaken to make them advisory rather than destructive. I have not accepted all the measures offered with presidential sanction. I opposed the adoption of the National Industrial Recovery Act and I think upon good and substantial grounds, and have not changed my views. I did not support the four-billion-dollar work relief bill because I thought it a burden placed upon the future which the needs of the present did not justify. I have complained of what I have taken to be a tendency toward the centralization of so much power in the federal government through a too liberal interpretation of the constitution, but I have recognized that the country has been in a state of emergency and quick and effective relief has demanded direct and vigorous treatment which called for concentration of authority and power."

"Governor Talmadge condemned in no unmistakable words the relief accomplished more speedily had all effort been concentrated upon that single phase of the problem, but the opportunity for reform would have passed, and reform was as essential to the general good as recovery. New treatment for both old and new problems had to be applied and this called for experimentation which involved error. Errors have, of course, been made.

"In so vast an undertaking as saving the country from wreck and ruin, calling for the speedy setting up of new machinery for administration and the expenditure of huge sums of money, error was inevitable. No reasonable person would have expected such an undertaking to be free of inequalities, injustices and waste. The question is, have general conditions improved under the treatment that has been applied? The governor would judge things upon the basis of their weaknesses rather than their strength. His demand is for perfection in everything."

Challenges Challenge.

"Because of a lack of infallibility on the part of the president and perfection in the institutions and men set up and appointed to administer governmental affairs, he would hold that the president has been a complete failure and would set him aside and have another elevated to this high station, and the governor seemingly intended, in this connection, to invite attention to himself."

"The controlling passion of the president, as gathered from his public utterances and what he has done, has been to save America, and in the prosecution of this lofty and noble purpose he has probably found it necessary to accept as temporary expedients things that he would oppose being made permanent policies of government."

"The effort has been to give emphasis to the fact that government is the concern of all, that it is a social union, that it exists not alone for the protection of property but for the protection of person and property and all the good that government can be made to bestow. It is in the light of actualities that we must judge if we hope to judge rightly. The laying down of broad general principles of justice upon which to ground a rule of governmental conduct is not a simple undertaking."

Is it to be understood that the governor has deluded himself into the position of bidding for three nominations—A place on the national democratic ticket, or if that cannot be had then on the republican ticket and if that be denied him then a place on the ticket of any third party that may come along? To be a contender for any one of these places a candidate should be able to start out with the support of his own state which in this instance will never be the case, for Georgia has but one candidate for the presidency in 1936, and that candidate is the president himself."

Dr. Edwin B. Frost, Blind Astronomer, Dies
CHICAGO, May 14.—(AP)—Dr. Edwin Brant Frost, blind director emeritus of the Yerkes Astronomical Observatory at Williams Bay, Wis., died today at 5:55 p. m. (central daylight time). He was 85 years old. Attending physicians at the Billings Memorial hospital said death was caused by peritonitis, which set in after a major operation May 12.

IL DUCE WARNS NATIONS TO KEEP OUT OF QUARREL

Count Luigi Marcegotti, Italian ambassador to Germany and Argentina, and Grand Officer Raffaele Montagna, former representative at The Hague, to serve on the conciliation committee provided in the Italo-Ethiopian treaty of 1928.

Before Mussolini spoke, Alessandro Lessona, under-secretary for colonies, declared the senate could be "certain its duty" in the Ethiopian crisis and repeated his previous charge that Emperor Haile Selassie had mobilized troops along the border between Ethiopia and Italy's African colony.

Haile Selassie's latest note to the League of Nations declared "absolutely false" that charge.

A government spokesman, commenting on orders issued to the class of 1912, said only those having special qualifications were called for immediate service, the rest being held in reserve. He made reference to Ethiopia's "evident attitude of hostility."

Gulf's new Multi-sol process now brings you A PREMIUM MOTOR OIL FOR 25¢

THE NEW GULF-LUBE

Again Gulf offers you a saving . . . Now you can get a premium oil at a popular price!

HAVE YOU ever wished for a premium motor oil—without a premium price . . . ?

Then—you are one of the thousands of motorists who will welcome this news enthusiastically . . .

There is now a premium oil—with full premium oil qualities—that sells for only 25¢ a quart. It is the new Gulf-lube.

What makes Gulf-lube a premium oil?

For many months, Gulf chemists and technologists focussed their efforts on a newer, more efficient method of making motor oil. Out of their efforts has come a giant new Gulf refinery unit, operating upon a new refining principle—the Multi-sol process. Newly-designed apparatus replaces older, cruder equipment. Chemical reactions, temperatures, pressures, are controlled with almost surgical precision.

And from this new process and new refinery comes the new Gulf-lube!

How the Multi-sol process works

Under this history-making new process, solvents of two opposite actions are used.

One action dissolves out the impurities in the crude oil—tars, gum and carbon-forming compounds—and settles them to the bottom of the extraction tanks. The other action selects the desirable parts of the oil and floats them to the top. This selected oil, is then "skimmed off," thoroughly de-waxed and filtered—to form the finest motor oil 25¢ ever bought!

What the new Gulf-lube brings you Modern, high speed motors demand

two all important things of an oil. Less tendency to oxidize or develop sludge. And less tendency to form carbon under the influences of heat.

The new Gulf-lube has both these qualities to a far higher degree than many premium oils! Nor is this all.

Gulf-lube has long had a reputation as "the high mileage motor oil." From Maine to Texas, it showed motorists they could drive a quart farther than any other 25¢ oil before that quart needed to be replaced!

And now, thanks to the Multi-sol process, Gulf-lube's already high mileage has been stepped up 20% to 25%!

Try just one filling!

We urge you to try this extraordinary new oil. Drain your worn oil, replace with the new Gulf-lube—and you'll notice a difference before you drive your first hundred miles.

You'll add less oil between drains. You'll get less carbon, less sludge—and your motor will get better protection than any other 25¢ oil in America could give it.

You can get the new Gulf-lube at all Gulf dealers—at only 25¢ a quart. Try it!

GULF REFINING CO.

THIS BOTTLE of milk shows what the Multi-sol process does for Gulf-lube. It separates the "cream" from the "milk." Selective solvents settle the impurities in the oil to the bottom, and float the desirable parts to the top. This "cream" or selected oil is then skimmed off. Gulf-lube is the only 25¢ oil made by this process.

SEE WHAT HAPPENS when a piece of ordinary glass is hit with a hammer. Now see what happens to a piece of shatterproof glass. That's the difference between a "brittle" oil and "shatterproof" oil—Gulf-lube. The former breaks under piston heat. The latter keeps its body and protects your motor.

REFINED BY THE MULTI-SOL PROCESS.

MURDER AND SUICIDE IS REPORT OF JURY

Mother's Affection for Son by Previous Marriage Held Reason for Tragedy.

Verdicts of murder and suicide were returned by a coroner's jury yesterday afternoon at inquests into the deaths of Mrs. Mittle Walters and her husband, Oscar W. Walters. Walters shot and killed his wife in a rooming house at 553 Curran street, N. W., Monday night and then turned the weapon upon himself, the jury reported.

The inquest into Mrs. Walters' death was held at the Harry G. Poole funeral home, while that into Walters' death was held at the Grady hospital morgue. The jury found that Walters killed his wife and then ended his own life during a period of temporary insanity.

Affection bestowed by Mrs. Walters upon her son by a previous marriage, Harley Mitchell, led to the murder and suicide, according to testimony at the inquests.

Byrd's Polar Bovines To Be Feted in N. Y.

NEW YORK, May 14.—(UP)—A couple of Admiral Byrd's cows, who are fast becoming celebrities with a dizzy round of fetes in their honor, will be wined and dined tomorrow for their exploits at the south pole.

The pair of bovine adventurers, a cow and a bull, will be guests of honor at a luncheon of the American Guernsey Cattle Club in one of Manhattan's swankiest hotels.

Probably the other diners will get a big kick out of the scene when a squad of bellboys, attired in hooded "parkas" used in the expedition to Little America, wheel the 2,300 pounds of beef—on the hoof—into the banquet room.

But not so the bucolic guests of honor. They're getting pretty bored by it all.

advance, Mrs. Walters was followed by her husband.

When the rooming house keeper returned from a trip to a store she found Mrs. Walters dead in the hallway, a bullet wound in her right temple, and her husband lying a few feet away, unconscious. He also was shot in the head.

Funeral services for Mrs. Walters will be conducted at 10 o'clock this morning at the Brown Memorial Baptist church. The Rev. W. N. Pruitt will officiate and burial will be in the Roswell cemetery. The funeral party will leave the chapel of Harry G. Poole at 9:30 o'clock.

Walters' body was claimed yesterday by a sister living in Austell, Ga., and taken to that town for burial by the Collins Funeral Home.

Edna Wooten and Norman Hannah, members of the junior class and nominees of the Lancaster convention, were elected girl president and boy president of the student government of Commercial High school yesterday at the annual spring election which followed two weeks of campaigning by members of the two rival parties.

The newly elected officers will assume their duties at the opening of the fall term. The officers-elect have been outstanding leaders in scholastic and campus activities at the school during the last two years.

Nash Dealers Hear Details On Forthcoming New Model

Plans for the debut of the Nash Motor Company's revolutionary new model were discussed at a meeting here yesterday of factory officials with local distributors and dealers. Left to right are shown James R. Gallagher, general manager of Nash Atlanta Motors; Karl H. Bronson, advertising manager of Nash Motors; and B. E. Newman, regional manager. Mr. Bronson was in Atlanta Monday and Tuesday.

Nash distributors, dealers and salesmen, numbering nearly 50, gathered yesterday in Atlanta to hear, at first-hand from officials of the Nash Motor Company, details on the additional series car the company is expected to announce shortly.

Karl H. Bronson, advertising manager of the Nash company, who headed the group of visiting factory officials, stated Nash will have a product with which to make an exceedingly strong bid for business in the lower middle price bracket and the car will be aggressively merchandised and advertised.

Although no details of the new Nash product are as yet available for publication, rumors current in the automobile industry have hinted at revolutionary changes in mechanical design that may have a sensational effect on present automobile manufacturing practices. First public announcement of the new car will be made at an early date.

Production of the new line, Mr. Bronson said, has been progressing rapidly in the past several weeks and solid trainload shipments have been made to various parts of the country so that Nash distributors and dealers will have adequate cars for display when the new model is announced.

Nash Atlanta Company is making elaborate plans for the new car's local debut.

Pet Alligator Travels World With Owner

Patsy Lazbyones, a 15-inch alligator that has traveled 75,000 miles, much of it in the coat pocket of her owner, Irving S. Schwartz, Miami, salesman, arrived in Atlanta yesterday. While she did not say she regarded Atlanta as the greatest city she has ever visited, it was evident from her expression she believed such to be the case.

Patsy was found in a Florida swamp a few hours after she was hatched. That was on January 16, 1933. Since that time Schwartz has carried the alligator with him all over the United States and on a two months' tour of Europe and Asia. Patsy is the only alligator in the world that wears a pearl necklace.

IDABEL, Okla., May 14.—(AP)—Two robbers who admitted to officers they were escaped Arkansas convicts were captured after a pitched gun fight here today in which one of them was wounded and $5,000 loot they had taken from the Idabel National bank was recovered.

Identity of the pair was admitted by Rube McKean, who formerly lived near here. He said his wounded companion was Sam Day, who escaped with him from the Arkansas prison, Deputy Sheriff Joe Hough declared.

Day was shot in the shoulder, a physician, summoned to the county jail, where the men were taken, said he was not seriously hurt.

Session of Reichstag Is Called by Hitler

BERLIN, May 14.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler today convoked the reichstag—divested of legislative powers under the nazi regime—for Tuesday, May 21, to hear him deliver an eagerly-awaited address on foreign policy.

Friends of the realm leader tonight said he would again express his willingness to scrap every gun, every ship of war, every fighting plane the reich has if the rest of Europe does likewise.

An earlier announcement said the reichstag session would be held Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock and telegraphic invitations citing them for that day and hour actually went out to the legislators.

So harassed was the propaganda ministry at the confusion created by the fuhrer's unexpected change of mind that officials for some time refused flatly to give out any information as to the reason for the change or the date finally chosen for the session.

BURNS PROVE FATAL TO ALABAMA WOMAN

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 14.—(AP)—Kerosene-soaked clothing converted Mrs. Ila Pauline Kane, 23, into a human torch today at her home here, inflicting burns from which the woman died a short time later.

Relatives aroused by Mrs. Kane's screams rushed to her side to find her body enveloped in flames, and made frantic efforts to extinguish the blaze.

Mrs. Kane was removed to a hospital where she died a few hours later. Relatives said Mrs. Kane had suffered a nervous breakdown recently.

U. S. FIRE LOSSES AT 19-YEAR LOW

Decrease of $41,000,000 in 1934 Reported by National Protection Association

Fire losses in the United States decreased $41,000,000 during 1934, dropping to $276,000,000, the lowest in 19 years, according to a report submitted at the 29th annual convention of the National Fire Protection Association yesterday at the Baltimore hotel.

More than 800 delegates are in attendance at the convention, representing industries, municipalities and federal agencies interested in fire prevention. Yesterday's session was devoted to meetings of various committees, at which reports on the work of the association were submitted.

The $41,000,000 drop in fire losses, based on preliminary estimates by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, was reported at the meeting of the committee on fire record, of which Robert S. Moulton is chairman. The report stated that a portion of the decline could be attributed to fire prevention work and increased efficiency in fire fighting. It said, however, that a raise in fire losses could be expected as the nation emerged from the depression and factories reopened.

Rules for eliminating forest fires were offered by Roy Headley, of the United States Forest Service, at the meeting of the forest committee. The rules, promulgated for summer campers, provide that slash or brush should never be burned in windy weather; that coals should be soaked with water; that camp should never be pitched until the camp fire has been extinguished; that fires should never be built near inflammable material; that matches should be broken in two before being thrown away, and that cigar or cigar stubs should never be thrown away until they are "dead."

Other committee reports were made by T. Alfred Fleming, chairman of the fire prevention and clean-up committee; Rudolph P. Miller, chairman, city planning and zoning committee; Franklin H. Wentworth, chairman of the public information committee, and Sherwood Brockwell, fire marshal of North Carolina, chairman of the fire marshal's section.

Walter Parker, of New Orleans, noted economist, will address the association at a meeting set for 10:10 o'clock this morning. He will discuss "Fire Hazards of the Cotton Industry." The annual banquet of the association will be held tonight at the Baltimore hotel. It has been named "A Night in Georgia" and will feature a program of negro entertainers.

RUSSELLVILLE, Ala., May 14.—(AP)—A Franklin county jury today found George Frank Prewitz, escaped Mississippi convict, guilty of murder in the death, April 10, of Walter Sanderson, Vina police chief, and imposed a sentence of death in the electric chair. The jury deliberated an hour and a half.

TENN. LABOR REFUSES TO SCORE TALMADGE

Resolution Fails Despite Denunciation by Individual Figures.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., May 14.—(AP)—A double-barreled resolution condemning Huey Long, Governor Eugene Talmadge, of Georgia; Father Charles Coughlin, the Liberty League and the United States Chamber of Commerce and endorsing the legislative policies of President Roosevelt failed of passage before the Tennessee Federation of Labor today after a lively debate.

The resolutions committee, headed by T. J. Smith, a miners' delegate, gave it an "unfavorable" report, but the convention refused to agree and referred it back to the committee.

Smith explained that the committee favored President Roosevelt, "but some were not in favor of condemning Long, Talmadge and Coughlin."

"I don't believe a man in this hall world back up Talmadge," James Leiby, of Knoxville, shouted, "but Huey Long has stood by the railroad unions and strikers in Louisiana."

"Talmadge, why we don't want him at all," said W. M. Page, of Memphis. "And the United States Chamber of Commerce isn't doing anything for us. It travels with big business."

William Turnblazer, United Mine Workers' official, declared that "I don't know what Long has done for the 21 railway brotherhoods, and I am told that he failed to snap his fingers and tell the Louisiana senate and house to ratify the child labor amendment. And Governor Talmadge, of Georgia, is famous for using the state militia to crush out the textile union strikes."

"The resolution condemned the five for 'doing everything within their power to place obstacles in the way of humane legislation in the United States senate by Roosevelt,'" and said the president "has done more on behalf of the working and common people of this country than any president since the days of Lincoln."

PIRATES ROUT WALKER, BEAT PHILLIES, 8 TO 1

Third-Inning Rally Sends Him to Showers; Other Games Rained Out.

PHILADELPHIA, May 14.—(P)—The Pittsburgh Pirates struck a blow at Buck Walters' pitching hopes today when they drove the former infielder from the mound with a five-run attack in the third inning and then went on to defeat the Phillies, 8 to 1.

Walters, who held the Cardinals to four hits in his mound debut last week, managed to hold the Pirates in check for two innings. In the third, however, the Pirates jumped on him for six hits and before John Pezullo was called in to take the rally, they had crossed the plate five times.

Didrikson, who is a professional golfer, had been playing amateur golf for several years.

PELICANS LIKE OMAHA—Gilbert Brings Team Here; Other Baseball News

Those New Orleans Pelicans are the "Omahas" of the Southern league. . . . They usually break slowly but finish strongly. . . . Because of several of their best players, including Hughes and Berger, their classy 1934 season bade combination, the Pelicans were not heard from the first three weeks of the season. . . . then they stepped out and won seven straight to forge up into the first division. . . . This fellow Larry Gilbert is quite a manager, and veteran players who have served under him consider him the smartest in the minor leagues. . . . And Gilbert is no chump when it comes to getting his share of the schedule rights.

Last year Larry cut in on the first of the Sunday games here and now he is coming in here for the second Sunday game, May 19, and also for the first night game, which is Tuesday night, May 21. With the Cracker having been away 15 days, just think of those crowds!

Don't be too hasty or severe in lambasting the base-runner or manager when the former is thrown out or trapped on what looks like a foolish attempt to steal. . . . In a majority of instances where this occurs it is the fault of the man at the plate in missing either a hit-and-run or hunt signal. . . . Such was the case when young Johnny Hill was thrown out at third base in Saturday's close game with Memphis, which went 10 innings into semi-darkness. . . . The man at the plate missed a hunt signal.
And does this make the managers hot!

ENGEL MEANT IT.
When Joe Engel cracked down on "Mule" Shirley last week, he wasn't kidding, nor was it a publicity stunt.
The truth was that Engel, who is a most tolerant manager, was burned up when he returned from a scouting trip to Panama City to discover that the Mule, whom he had given the best break he ever had in making him manager last year, had vaunted off the water wagon. . . . It was verbally understood when the Mule was given the job, that he was to be a most tolerant manager, and all communications with Backus and how to the straight and narrow.
And the Mule did it to it until his moral fiber weakened in New Orleans, a very dangerous place to expose one's moral fiber. . . . If Engel had gone through with his plan to attach the can to the Mule and keep Backus on the job, the Southern league's playing managers would have been reduced to four, namely Eddie Moore,
Atlanta; Frank Brazill, Nashville;
Lee Head, Knoxville; and Freddy Hoffman, Memphis, who catches occasionaly. . . .

SINGTON AND BERGER.
When Freddie Sington and "Boze"
Berger, the ex-Alabama and ex-Maryland athletes, were playing in the Southern league in 1933, with Atlanta and New Orleans, respectively, both had what the pitchers termed glaring batting weaknesses or "blind spots." . . . They pitched Sington, who could hit a curve, high fast ones, inside, and Berger, who lunged at the ball, low curves, outside. . . . They therefore so many curve balls that he finally learned to hit one. . . .
As proof of the fact that a young player can overcome a multitude of sins, both boys are now in the big leagues, Sington with Washington, and Berger with Cleveland. . . .

OPERATION COST OF SCHOOLS HIT

Eighth Ward Commissioner Says Expense Can Be Cut in Half.

Charges that the $115,000 annual cost of the operation and maintenance department of the Atlanta school system can be cut in half through revision and revamping of the system were made yesterday at the board meeting by George S. Lowman, eighth ward commissioner.

The Lowman assertion fell like a bombshell in the meeting, the only other flurry occurring when the board voted unanimously to sustain committee appointments made by the newly elected president, Ernest Brewer.

Lowman asked for appointment of a special committee of three members empowered to spend a maximum of $700 to employ auditors to make an efficiency survey of that department, but the board referred the matter to a committee already named to probe the school system, headed by Ed Cook, third ward commissioner.

Auditor Sought.
The action, however, not taken until William A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, and Thomas C. Cliff, school business manager in charge of the operation and maintenance department, had insisted that the auditor be employed.

When Lowman enumerated several of the rumors he had heard Cliff retorted:

"You are liable to hear anything. They might tell you that I am going to move Stone Mountain to Five Points. When such reports come to board members, I shall be glad to discuss them and we can work them out. If any savings can be effected, I would welcome it."

Complete Audit Asked.
Lowman said the board "has spent $12,000,000 since the last audit was made in July, 1931, and we should have a complete one."

"The public and this board will be astounded that we have not had an audit for so long a period," he asserted.

Board members amended the rules to make Brewer's committee appointments legal and Brewer immediately renamed all committees he had designated on March 12, soon after his election to the presidency.

Other important matters considered by the board were:

1. Filled Councilman John A. White's resolution seeking to make senior high schools coeducational.

2. Voted on Lowman's motion to expunge from board minutes addresses made at the April meeting of the board by D. H. Therrell and Mrs. Z. V. Peterson relating to the move to abrogate Brewer's committee appointments.

Record Enrollment Reported.
3. Heard Sutton tell the board that the enrollment of Atlanta schools for the last week in April was 69,342, the largest in the history of the system.

4. Asked the federal government war department to reassign Captain Thomas A. Austin Jr., in charge of H. O. T. C. units at Boys and Tech High schools, and praised Sergeants Frank M. Johnson and Henry Short, Austin's assistants. The government had planned to shift Austin to some other post.

5. Heard Sutton praise his aides and the Parent-Teacher organizations for their fine co-operation in making the 1934-35 school year the most successful in the city's history.

6. Voted to re-establish the had debis committee of the board on recommendation of the superintendent.

Calendar Action Deferred.
7. Deferred action on the 1935-36 school calendar. The proposed set-ups fail to provide for a holiday on Armistice Day.

8. Voted to establish a committee of five to study text books and make recommendations. Commissioner H. Jack Penn, fifth ward, said the books used in the Atlanta system cost much more than those called for on the state list.

9. Established a committee of five to study another Penn proposal to convert Maddox Junior High school into a senior high school, or to erect a senior high school in that vicinity.

BAPTISTS WILL STUDY LYNCHINGS IN SOUTH

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 14.—(AP)—The Southern Baptist convention, opening here tomorrow, will be asked to approve the establishment of a bureau of social research to study the race problem, mob violence in lynchings and labor disputes, unemployment, government in business and moral standards of the church.

Establishment of the bureau will be recommended in a report to be submitted to the convention Friday by Dr. E. McNeil Potat Jr., Raleigh, N. C., whose report says there is "an amazing confusion of the public mind on liquor, increasing laxity of moral imperatives and the changes in the ideals of the home and its increasing disappearance as a place of discipline and instruction."

Charging alcohol was a factor in 60 per cent of the accidents studied by insurance companies, the social service commission, headed by Dr. Arthur J. Barton, also of North Carolina, will ask the convention to condemn by resolution "liquor traffic in all forms."

The commission also will ask the adoption of a resolution "urging our people to use their influence to defeat ratification of the child labor amendment to the national constitution." Another resolution expressing opposition to war will be adopted.

New Orleans Greets Archbishop-Elect

NEW ORLEANS, May 14.—(AP)—predominantly Catholic New Orleans today welcomed its archbishop-elect, the Very Right Reverend Joseph Francis Rummel, bishop of Omaha, with a rousing royal reception in which nearly 100,000 persons chorused the city's greeting.

Seldom, if ever, has this city received a church dignitary with such pomp and ceremony.

Thousands in holiday attire lined the sides of famed old Canal street, forming a solid wall of humanity through which the archbishop-elect passed with his entourage en route to ancient St. Louis cathedral.

LINDER AGAIN RAPS AAA IN BULLETIN

Farm Commissioner Submits Latest Issue to Postmaster for Approval

As his department's official publication faced the danger of losing its mailing privileges, Thomas M. Linder, Georgia farm commissioner, came out with another blast at the AAA yesterday in the latest issue of the Market Bulletin.

Linder said he was going to submit a copy of the Bulletin to the Atlanta postmaster for review before offering the 120,000-odd copies for mailing. The paper, which is supported by legislative appropriations, is dated Thursday, May 16.

"The postmaster asked to see a copy in advance," Linder said. With this announcement he called John T. Gore, assistant state's attorney-general, into his office and sought a legal opinion as to the status of the Bulletin, which if reclassified will cost around $1,200 a week to mail instead of the approximately $40 a week now paid on the postage basis of 30 copies for 1-2 cents. If the paper is classified as political, it will cost one cent per copy.

In this week's issue he charges Herman A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, with not dealing "in good faith" with Georgia farmers, under a discussion of objections Linder said he raised at a cotton meeting in Birmingham recently.

"I called attention to the fact that the secretary of agriculture has not dealt in good faith with the farmers of Georgia, but that he, by his own order, took the processing tax off of jute, which is the principal competi-

Angela Joyce, Miss England of 1930, Loses Breach of Promise Suit

LONDON, May 14.—(AP)—Miss Angela Joyce, the "Miss England of 1930" today lost her breach of promise suit against Lord Revelstoke, wealthy young banker.

A jury in the Old Bailey, which included three women, required only half an hour to reach a verdict for the defendant.

Costs of the action were assessed against Miss Joyce.

The beauty contest winner, who changed her name from Ivy Dawkins when the stage called to her, testified that Revelstoke, known as Rupert Baring before his father's death, proposed to her several times while he was in school at Cambridge. Once he popped the question in her bedroom, she asserted.

This Revelstoke flatly denied, telling the court that the question of marriage only came up between them when Miss Joyce herself raised it. He told her he was not interested, he testified.

In closing, the young peer's attorney gave the lie direct to the actress. A "patent lie" was the way he characterized her contention that Lord Revelstoke resumed their association after seven months of separation, while he called a "transparent lie" her assertion that he had written her letters after the "Cambridge period."

Justice Swift, in charging the jury, said: "A man doesn't promise to marry a woman by saying 'You're the sweetest girl I've ever met.'"

To win her case, he said, Miss Joyce had to prove without question that Revelstoke had contracted to marry her.

He did this for the benefit of the farmers of his own state, disregarding entirely the rights of the farmers of the cotton belt.

Linder wrote it was "impossible" for Georgia farmers to prosper "so long as they are under the domination and control of a bunch of federal agents." He termed AAA employees "nothing more or less than federal agents."

that a decade of grocery and merchandising experience.

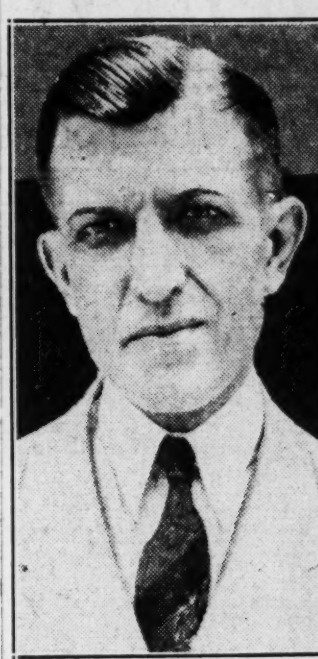

"Atlanta is the leading city of the southeast and appears destined to become far greater as the years go by," Mr. Meyn said yesterday. "For that reason it seemed to me highly desirable to enter business in this city."

"The grocery business is rapidly coming to the idea of self-service, because that is the ideal method of merchandizing, not only from the standpoint of the grocer but also from that of the customer. Inasmuch as Piggly Wiggly is the oldest of the self-service chains, it was only natural that I should interest myself in it."

"Under the Georgia Piggly Wiggly Company the Atlanta chain will be strictly a Georgia enterprise. We will maintain our own warehouse here to supply the various stores in the chain and the warehouse will be big enough to take care of present needs as well as the contemplated units to be established under the proposed expansion."

"Under present plans we will be in our warehouse within the next 30 days, and the modernization and expansion program will be pushed as rapidly as possible."

BODY by FISHER

IF ANY motor car body ever was given the "third degree"—banged around, dashed over rut and rock at top speed, punished and abused to test its safety, strength, stamina and comfort—that body is the famed new solid steel "Turret Top" Body by Fisher!

We went further still. We parked these cars in the blazing sun of Key West, Florida—375 miles farther south than Cairo, Egypt! We hung thermometers inside—attached them to the roof exterior. And we engaged Kaye Don, famed English race driver, to check the temperatures—outside and inside—at regular intervals. These tests were made under the official sanction and supervision of the American Automobile Association. We did the same with cars having conventional type roofs, and found that the "Turret Top" Body by Fisher can be depended upon for maximum coolness in torrid weather.

We found, as you will find, these remarkable new bodies dependably cool in summer, warm in winter, and safer, quieter, more comfortable all the year round.

You'll notice that the corners of these new "Turret Tops" are rounded. That's because the sphere is the strongest structure in relation to weight that can be made. And beneath these rounded exteriors the whole body structure is "tied in" to stiffer, reinforced strength by welding the steel side and rear panels—even the windshield pillars—to the solid steel protective roof.

Kaye Don, famous British racer, aided A. A. A. officials in exhaustive tropical sun tests at Key West on both new "Turret Top" Body by Fisher models and 1935 cars still using the "conventional" type roof. When all test cars were opened up after being tightly sealed for 90 minutes beneath mid-summer noonday sun, inside thermometers proved that "Turret Top" cars not only could be depended upon for maximum coolness in torrid weather but that they "cooled off" far more quickly to normal outside temperatures than did cars with the other style of roof construction.

You'll find that the "Turret Top" ends top leaks, too—ends the expense of recovering and refinishing the top, because it is as durable as the car itself.

And to appreciate how much the "Turret Top" adds to the streamline sleekness of an advanced 1935 car, just go look at the stunning new Chevrolet (Master De Luxe series), Pontiac, Oldsmobile and La Salle closed car models.

Note, too, while you're there, the improved and perfected design of that other great contribution to motoring health and comfort—Fisher No Draft Ventilation.

Louisa Robert's Plans Provide Many Diversions for Summer

The notation beneath the picture stated that Louisa is visiting her father, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Robert, at the Mayflower hotel. She motored to the national capital several weeks ago and lots of social attention has been bestowed upon this popular Atlanta girl by her admirers in Washington, D. C.

Louisa expects to motor to New York today to visit Mr. and Mrs. William Cutler, who will be pleasantly remembered as frequent guests of Louisa's parents in Atlanta. Her hosts live in a charming Park avenue penthouse atop one of the tallest houses in the metropolis. Interior and exterior pictures of this sky-top residence have adorned the pages of leading magazines, because the Cutler penthouse is considered the last word in architecture and furnishings.

After leaving New York, Louisa returns to Atlanta to remain several days with her family before departing for Lexington, Ky. Here, in the first week of June, she will act as maid of honor for Virginia Bosworth when she becomes the bride of Charles Wilson, who graduated from Georgia Tech some three years ago. Nor are the aforementioned plans the only ones that intrigue the fancy of Louisa, as she leaves for Sea Island Beach the middle of June to spend a month in the same cottage her parents occupy every summer.

A LOVELY Atlanta belle became ambitious and took a business course. Then she went out on her first job. But her shorthand was a bit under par. For some reason she just couldn't keep up with the dictation, so she didn't last long.

However, being a clever young person, she thought of a way to even matters. She inserted this ad in an Atlanta newspaper:

WOMEN'S MEETINGS

WEDNESDAY, MAY 15.

Mrs. Harold McKenzie will be hostess to the Atlanta Wesleyan Club, Group 3, at her home, 680 Club drive, at 3:30 o'clock.

Joseph Habersham Chapter, D. A. R., meets at 3 o'clock at 275 Fifteenth street, N. E.

Agnes Scott Business Women's Club meets at the alumnae house on the Agnes Scott campus at 6 o'clock.

But for the program. For instance, what is your answer to the vital question as to whether chickens should rest on a round or a square roost? The question was a chicken fight in the form of a debate between Olli Barge and Hugh Roberts.

Evidently neither a square nor a round roost would be acceptable for our feathered friends, as judges decided on a roost of an entirely different nature. It was "Charlotte Russ."

Bobbie Crenshaw, by vote of the whole "fraternity," heads the "Share-the-Health program" and her talk on "How to Milk a Cow."

Rivaling Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream" was Rawson Haver's rendition of "Midnight Night Snoring," with sound effect. Dance recitals in the future will no doubt enlist the services of Tommy Cuthbert and Douglas Sheppard.

The "spring dance" with table cloths and napkins, instead of the traditional rainbow-colored chiffon, was one of the best features on the program.

Authors' Elaborate Word Structures Bared as Mild Form of Insanity

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP)—The writings of some literary artists read like the telltale phrases of schizophrenia, the mild form of insanity known as split personality.

This was reported by the American Psychiatric Association here today in an analysis of the language of 100 schizophrenics made by Dr. William L. Woods, of the Iowa Psychopathic hospital at Iowa City.

Schizophrenia is a tendency of a personality to go to pieces. But it does not go as far as dual personality, such as the Jekyll-Hyde condition. As an example of schizophrenia, "splitting" among the 100, Dr. Woods quoted:

"It would be normal to any object that was seemingly comfortable to sit in, it remains uncomfortable and there was something to be appreciably gained if it would be better to let it continue."

The reader, Dr. Woods said, feels that behind the obscurity of phrases there must lurk a mysterious inner meaning.

This style, he explained, might be compared with that of "certain literary artists." He gave no names.

The style he described as "bewildered by elaborate word structures, bizarre descriptions and abundance of high-sounding phrases."

Dr. Woods said that in the case of the split personality patient, the explanation for such phrases lay in an effort to find abstract words to cover lack of precision in meaning.

One of the objectives of a large class of split personality people is to make language convey emotions rather than ideas, he said.

Single words that they hear become the main idea to some schizophrenics. Thus a musically inclined girl asked to define the meaning of the proverb, "You can't touch pitch without being tarred," replied:

"Music." That idea she got from the word pitch.

In schizophrenia, Dr. Woods summarized, smooth speech conceals emptiness of underlying thought.

FLORIDA HOUSE VOTES
BAN ON CHAIN STORES

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 14.—(AP)—The House today passed the controversial bill to drive all chain stores out of Florida.

The vote against chain stores, branded as an evil and an impediment to business recovery, was 53 to 14. The measure now goes back to the senate for concurrence in amendments.

Senate action during the day was eclipsed by the house's disposal of the important chain stores bill.

In the senate, however, came the first favorable action looking toward immediate old age pensions.

It approved a bill by Senator Bass providing pensions for persons over 65 years of age, 15 years national and state citizens.

The bill provided that the state pension board may comply with federal regulations in order to obtain federal old age assistance funds, but set up no revenue source for state pension funds.

Before acting on the chain store measure, the house passed, with amendments, the senate-approved citrus control bill which would establish an 11-member commission to regulate the citrus industry. An attempt by Representative Seaborn to add a referendum clause was killed.

OVERRIDING TEST NEAR
COLUMBIA, S. C., May 14.—(AP)—Votes were marshaled in the house today for a test tomorrow on overriding an executive veto affecting 11 of the 87 sections of the annual appropriation act.

Legislators said Governor Olin D. Johnston's action in striking out the $4,044 salary of his inveterate enemy, Chief Highway Commissioner Ben M. Sawyer, and $18,002 for the state board of bank control appeared most likely to be sustained.

Efforts to reach compromises on other items stricken out of the bill were talked about without official confirmation.

Belief grew almost to the point of certainty that the governor would allow a licensing liquor act before him to become law.

Even without his signature, the measure automatically would replace South Carolina's pre-war "quarantined" statute at midnight.

Rome Man, Companion

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., May 14.—(AP)—Eugene Sheahan, 29, auto salesman of St. Petersburg and Rome, Ga., and Duncan Spencer, 28, General Motors district manager, Tampa, were killed instantly tonight when an airplane they had borrowed crashed here.

MINISTERS OF A. M. E.
IN BUSINESS SESSION

The Atlanta A. M. E. Ministers Union held a business session in Big Bethel A. M. E. church yesterday. Rev. W. B. Wilkes, president, presided. Rev. J. R. Wilcher is the acting secretary.

"The Origin of the Christian Church"—Its Privilege Offered to the Believers—was presented by Rev. E. C. Foley and discussed by Dr. D. R. Forbes, B. V. Thornton, W. A. Stevens, John Harmon and Bishop W. A. Fountain. Various comments were made through Chairmen S. H. Rome, H. M. Parker, R. E. Romans, B. R. L. and G. B. Hannan.

The union will observe the anniversary of the B. R. Holmes Institute next Tuesday night in Allen temple. Dr. W. R. Wilkes, pastor. The program will be handled by Dr. A. Wingfield as master of ceremonies.

Echoes of Mother's Day observed on last Sabbath by the local A. M. E. churches were voiced by Dr. D. J. Babcock, H. M. Parker, A. L. Brewster, G. B. Hannan, S. H. Rome, W. Stephens, W. R. Wilkes, J. A. Hadley and J. R. Wilcher.

Many of these pastors' appeals to their congregations had fine results for the cause of education, according to reports. Bishop Fountain congratulated the pastors and churches for their financial showing in behalf of Morris Brown College.

Bolton Painter Drowns Trying To Swim River

Alvin Flowers, 26, Bolton painter and father of a three-month-old baby, was drowned in the Chattahoochee river at Bolton yesterday when he went swimming to "cool off." Hurdles jammed in the search for the body, dynamite being used to bring it to the surface, but it had not been recovered at a late hour last night.

Flowers and his family moved to Bolton several days ago to make their home with Mrs. Flowers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Proctor.

The young painter, Proctor and Fred Humphrey, 5-year-old nephew of Flowers, were walking along the banks of the Chattahoochee when Flowers decided to swim across. Removing his clothes, he plunged into the water. He was half-way to his goal when he suddenly disappeared beneath the water and did not again rise to the surface. It is believed he was seized with cramps.

Fulton county police were notified and began dragging the river for the body. Passing motorists and residents of Bolton joined in the search. County police exploded a series of dynamite blasts in the water without result.

Banks was thrown from his machine by the impact and suffered a fractured right thumb, leg injuries and possible internal injuries. He was admitted to Grady hospital for observation.

Here Is a Cream That Will Do a Great Deal for You

An inexpensive cream that will do things for you. That's what women are after, and I have found one for you, which I find bleaches out any stray freckles that I happen to have and is a cream that smooths the skin that is chapped or brittle after too much out of doors. It is a cream that an only skin can use most effectively.

I have found that with many creams, and this is one of them, a very clever trick is to use a good oil—be it olive, almond or coconut—after you have spread the cream on. I find that it actually drives the cream in quickly, and these days I know few people who are not in a great hurry.

I tried this cream first alone and then followed it up with a bit of oil. I got an oil that comes in a wide-necked bottle, but the other will work, too. I dipped a small wad of cotton into the oil, then ran it over the cold-faced face. In a few moments my skin felt so thoroughly softened and well fed that I wiped off with tissue what was left and then applied my bit of foundation cream. If your skin is oily you can omit the oil and use the cream alone. You will like it. If you prefer to use the oil with it, I would advise you, after using it, to put a bit of tonic or mild astringent over a piece of ice and when it is very cold apply it to your skin with cotton until the skin is thoroughly cold. I don't mean cold enough for a shock. This is decidedly a bad thing to do to the face. Just cool the skin and then apply your bit of whatever foundation cream you prefer.

If you have freckles that you are trying to get rid of, why not leave the cream on overnight? Spread a heavy, soft bath towel (one that is not ironed) over the pillow and tie your hair up in a net, and you won't find that there is anything the least bit messy about leaving cold cream on at night.

And, by the way, tell your laundryman not to iron your rough bath towels. They are heavy enough for the flat and smooth when folded, and they are so much softer to use when they have not been ironed.

This cold cream is very moderately priced.

Junior Leaguers Talk Reorganization.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14.—(AP)—Divided into discussion groups, members of the Association of Junior Leagues of America talked over reorganizing their whole program of activities today, and considered establishment of a separate department for cultural activities.

Leaders said a decided feeling had developed in the league that the "arts and interests" section was becoming overburdened, since so many of the members have been concentrating in this field.

Findings of the discussion groups are to be pooled tomorrow and brought to a general vote Friday.

Organization discussion was carried on in four groups this morning, followed by more round-table talks in the afternoon about the leagues' welfare program.

DARLING DRESS FOR GRADUATION.

Much business was gained in the abbreviated cape-slee effect. They are merely shaped ruffles that are easily stitched to the simple bodice. The two-piece skirt is slightly circular. It's just as simple as A, B, C to make it.

A novelty cotton Swiss with small dots is very dainty and practical as pictured.

For parties, this dress is fetching in taffeta or embroidered organdie.

For ordinary day wear, there's no better dress in which it looks like a plaided gingham, pique, striped percale, checked seersucker, etc.

Style No. 777 is designed for sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 2 yards of 39-inch material with 3-8 yard of 39-inch contrasting.

Our spring fashion book is beautifully illustrated in color. Price of book 15 cents.

Price of pattern 15 cents. Wrap coin carefully.

Lois and the Children Take a Cottage on the Lake

By FLORENCE La GANKE.

"How soon do you go?" "Oh, not for a week, but I'm starting making out my lists already. I wrote some things down as I came out from town."

"You know what I am going to do, Nancy? I am planning to buy a few staple groceries each time I order my weekly supplies. Then I will have many on hand and won't have such a big bill when its time to go out to the cottage."

Lois had lists galore before she finished. Here are a few of the things she put down on her food list.

Salt that does not lump in damp weather, small containers of white pepper, cayenne, dry mustard, nutmeg, cinnamon.

She stocked up with fruit gelatin in all flavors, she had some boxes of each variety of flavored junkies.

She took a few boxes of ready-to-mix gingerbread and spice cake. She ordered some prepared biscuit flour. But this was done at the very last before she left for the summer.

Included a box of cornstarch, granulated tapioca. There were tins of sardines, salmon, shrimp and canned soups. A box of unsweetened cocoa was included. Of course she had paraffin paper, can openers, bottle openers, salt and pepper shakers, string, rubber bands, nails, a small hammer.

Friendly Counsel

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Dear Miss Chatfield: The son of my employer is giving me a big rush and he is forever trying to persuade me to stay out past the lunch hour, leave before time for the office to close, etc. When making the rush that I may lose my job he tells me he will make it all right with his dad. Now it is a mistake for me to listen to him and do as he suggests.

BUSINESS GIRL.

Answer: It is the biggest mistake you can make from several angles. It is really a silly irresponsible boy persuade you that anything takes precedence over your obligations to your job.

Former Atlanta Man Is Canal Zone Suicide

Jacob Ungar, 44, former Atlanta and son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Ungar, of 511 Eighth street, N. E., assistant chief of the division of civil affairs of the Panama Canal, committed suicide yesterday afternoon in the Canal Zone by shooting himself in the head, according to dispatches from Panama. His health was described as the reason for the act.

Ungar, who occupied one of the highest civilian executive positions in the Panama Canal department, was a native of New York and before accepting a position in 1914 with the government in the Canal Zone lived with his parents, who at that time resided at 370 South Pryor street.

He was one of the first employees of the canal was officially commissioned in 1914. He made his home at Balboa, C. Z., near the executive headquarters of the canal department.

Ungar and his wife were visitors to Atlanta last summer and were accompanied by their daughter, Miss Bona Ungar, who is a student at the University of Georgia. When in Atlanta it was said he was enjoying excellent health, though last week his daughter informed members of the family here that her father was in the Gorgas hospital at Balboa.

Pine Lake is a new summer resort located in DeKalb County, near Decatur, just 12 miles from Atlanta. It is destined to become one of the most popular summer resorts for the people of Atlanta and vicinity.

On a knoll overlooking the lake and with a magnificent view of Stone Mountain, a spacious clubhouse has been built and furnished. This is for the exclusive use of all property owners. Every lot owner is entitled to free membership in this clubhouse, which will, at all times, be a center of social activity. This clubhouse, together with the Lake and parks surrounding same, will be turned over to an association of property owners, which will be organized and sponsored by us, to keep the lake and park as such in perpetuity for the lot owners.

For months experts searched in every direction for a satisfactory lake site. Many were submitted but were discarded for one disadvantage or another. Finally, because of its plentiful, spring-fed water supply, heavy woods and proximity to Atlanta, the present site of PINE LAKE was decided upon. In offering PINE LAKE to the public we do so with the full realization that purchasers may get the utmost at the very lowest possible cost. In fact, for the proposition to be appealing to the greatest number, it must be offered without regard to the normal value of similarly improved properties in the same locality.

We believe you will agree with us when we say PINE LAKE combines low price with exceptional value and an unusual opportunity for increase in value to the highest possible degree.

MANY PAY TRIBUTE TO MAJOR COHEN

Leaders in Many Activities Voice Regret at Passing of Editor.

Fellow Georgians and national political and newspaper leaders joined yesterday in paying tribute to Major John S. Cohen, president and editor of the Atlanta Journal, who died Monday night at the residence, 941 Peachtree street, following an illness of several months.

The tributes received by the family were from persons in all stations of life, personal friends, political allies, newspaper conferees or business men who had known and admired Major Cohen. A number of the tributes came from members of the United States senate who served with Major Cohen when he was appointed to fill a vacancy by Governor Richard B. Russell Jr., who later succeeded to the senatorship by election.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow, the hour and other arrangements, however, will await definite word from his only daughter, Jean M. Cohen, of Lisbon, Portugal. She arrived in New York yesterday on the French liner Ile de France, accompanied by her husband and two daughters.

Tributes From Capital.

At the home, tributes were received yesterday from President and Mrs. Roosevelt, Postmaster-General E. A. Tamm, chairman of the democratic national committee; Vice President John N. Garner, Senators Pat Harrison, of Mississippi; Ashurst, of Arizona; Barkley, of Kentucky; Russell and George, of Georgia, and Senator Charles L. McNary, the republican leader; Secretary Cordell Hull, L. W. Robert Jr., assistant secretary of the treasury, and others.

Senator William G. McAdoo, a native Georgian, in his message expressed the sentiments of many of his colleagues: "He was a citizen, not alone of Georgia, but of the nation. He cannot be replaced."

Plans were being made last night in Washington by several members of the Georgia delegation in congress, together with a party of government officials, to leave the capital this afternoon to attend the funeral services. Among those scheduled to be in the party are Postmaster-General Farley, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Robert, Second Assistant Postmaster-General Harlow Branch, as well as

W. E. Page, collector of internal revenue in Georgia and president of the R. W. Page Corporation, publishers of the Columbus Ledger, Co.
